Based in Atlanta, Ga., Chris travels across the nation, as corporations and organizations insist on getting his brand of coaching and motivation for themselves. He prepares customized presentations to suit the needs of each audience, whether he is addressing front line employees or corporate executives.

He is the CEO of Success Solutions 4U, LLC, a business consulting company. A self starter and an entrepreneur, Chris does not believe in limitations of the individual. He speaks with conviction, pushing others to break through the barriers of those perceived limitations. No matter where a person starts, he knows where the person can finish, because he's seen it in his own life.

I present to some and introduce to others Mr. Chris Gloss.
